The Origins of the Paralympic Games

The Paralympic Games were founded by Sir Ludwig Guttman, a German-born neurologist who worked with spinal cord injury patients at the Stoke Mandeville Hospital in England. In 1948, Guttman organized the first Stoke Mandeville Games, which were a competition for wheelchair athletes. The Games were a success, and they inspired Guttman to create an international event for athletes with disabilities.

In 1960, the first Paralympic Games were held in Rome, Italy. The Games were a success, and they helped to raise awareness of the abilities of athletes with disabilities. The Paralympic Games have been held every four years since 1960, and they have grown in size and scope over the years.

The Paralympic Games Today

The Paralympic Games are now one of the world's largest sporting events. The Games are held every four years, and they feature a wide range of sports, including athletics, swimming, cycling, archery, and wheelchair basketball.
